Milam Grand Jury Questions Law Enforcement Methods In County

Two members of the current Milam County Grand Jury told county commissioners Monday morning that the county is at "the mercy of criminals" and the situation is getting worse as far as unpunished crime in the county goes.

Calvin Cobb and Reese Ashley both told commissioners that the last session of the grand jury lasted three days and was the "most ill-prepared" they had seen yet. Ashley said the session should have lasted not longer than a day and a half if the proper evidence had been presented to the jury.

Cobb, a county landowner and farmer, served as foreman for the grand jury. Ashley is a salvage yard owner from Rockdale and served as jury foreman when Cobb's wife became ill.

Ashley said most evidence was "word of mouth" with no official written reports for the jury. "There are too many loose ends and we can't pull them together," Ashley told commissioners. He said when cases were presented there was not enough evidence for the jury to make a decision.

ASHLEY SAID HE had been robbed more than once but the robberies were never solved. He said the number of cases of such crimes as thefts and worthless checks is growing with no proper investigation and arrests.

Ashley said the situation was a "hot potato," and no one wanted to fool with it. He said the county attorney had said he had the job (of county attorney) forced on him and because of the low salary he was unable to live without having a private practice, and that meant that he couldn't be a thorough investigator too.

Ashley said Sheriff Carl Black had been questioned by the current grand jury about having a special investigator to help prepare cases and the sheriff said he was willing to work with such an investigator.

County Judge O. B. Harden asked if the sheriff's personnel had attended required law enforcement schools and was told that the sheriff said they had.

Ashley said the situation would be helped if the county had active constables; however, he said he realized that constables do not make much money and do not travel as much as they should.

BOTH MEN SAID the lack of "teeth" in county law enforcement is making the situation worse. They spoke of some robberies as connected with "rings" that should be broken up and that continue because the criminals know they will not be caught.

Judge Harden told Cobb and Ashley, "I don't know what we can do but we will try to help." He said the situation would be talked over with the sheriff.

Judge Harden in a later statement to The Herald, said the Commissioners' Court is authorized to levy taxes and spend money and has no control over elected officials.

Members of the current grand jury are R. D. Wise, J. L. Banks, Mrs. S. P. Peebles Jr., Mrs. Monroe Marek, Claude Lagrone, Mrs. Gus Kasner, C. W. Talbot, Milton C. Wise, Mrs. Lucille Griffin, Walter Lester, Cobb, and Ashley.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, commissioners voted to give county road workers a $50 a month raise. That motion was offered by Dalton Caffey who said the workers were in bad shape trying to support families with costs of living going up as they are. But commissioners also said they did not know where the money would come from as it is not in the budget.

Commissioners also voted to give county employees a $15 Christmas bonus and re-appointed Dr. S. H. Richardson as county health officer.

THEY VOTED TO accept the offer of 33 acres of land from John L. McCoy who wants to give 7 acres outright and retain a life estate in the other 26. The land would be for public use and is located in the southwest corner of the county.

Judge Harden read a letter about the new voting rights act, which requies that any change in voting place, procedure, judges, or others pertaining to voting will have to be approved in Washington, including changes made back from Nov. 1, 1972. The letter stated that this requirement would present major problems and reported that a representative from the Department of Justice would be in Austin on Dec. 17 to speak about the new law. Plans are that at least one, and maybe three from Milam County will attend the meeting.

Judge Harden also told commissioners that the county meetings will be required to have an agenda in the future. The commissioners do not presently use an agenda, meeting notices state that commissioners court will meet to "conduct routine business."

AQUOTING WE GO. . . .

California Gov. Edmund Brown, Jr., a Democrat and political maverick, apparently agrees with the rationale this columnist finds John Connally in public agreement with.

This newspaper and this column for years have carried countless discussions about polls, parties and particulars of why the contemporary two-party system is frail going on senile.

Listen to Ed Brown, 37, who is the most popular California governor in 25 years of polls there, including the Reagan years, by using both liberal and conservative solutions to problems:

Are Democratic and Republican parties relevant to today's politics?

"It's too early to tell. There are definite changes going on that might require realignment. From where I look at things now, it's just impossible to predict with any certainty the shape of future political coalitions and organizations. But obviously there are new demands."

Democratic and Republican parties are "getting a bit decrepit and better wake up, or some other party may come along and take their place," he told an AP interviewer.

Brown said he wouldn't bolt the party because he believed the Democratic Party represented change and new direction, but which he included in his criticism of the political U.S. and its tendency to rehash old solutions.

The young Californian has refused to occupy the Governor's Mansion and has advised Democratic Party chieftains of the need to change or ossify and disappear.

116-116-116

His comes as political advice based on a brief tenure as a successful California governor since January, applying pragmatism to state's needs, juxtaposing expertise and baffling friends and foes with approaches which happen to work thus far.

He is also among those mentioned as potential candidates for president among the 15 Democrats in 1976 or in 1980.

All of which Connally, now a Republican knows, but most of which Connally also knows might go unheeded by Democratic leaders who just completed polling in favor of Hubert Humphrey as candidate for 1976.

So what Democratic regulars trust is what former Democrat Connally knows isn't working. Humphrey, now a senator from Minnesota, lost to Richard Nixon by a quarter million votes. It is likely he would lose by a close margin with the old solutions to the problems of a diminished world power. He is in his mid-60s.

If Brown's approach works in California, it might work in Washington: Using what works to resolve problems and conserve basic institutions.

Polls are seven to one in his favor. There hasn't been a president in the nation's history who for even six months carried that heavy a favorable margin. California is one of the major states.

With Connally's experience and Connally's overview, though Connally failed of election, these approaches might pull Gerald Ford from the Reagan right to a pragmatic left of center for conservative solutions. Odd, but true.

That's how important the Brown experience in California may be and just what Connally might extrapolate for an independent yank at the Presidency.

Considered a catalyst, John Connally at least could bring this country to its political, decentralizing senses. At best, he could put the White House in control of a nation wallowing in wanderlust.

116-116-116

And I recall Swedish sociologist Gunnar Myrdal's recognition of "the conservative tradition" where America struggles to preserve "very radical principles indeed."

Churches Plan Christmas Services

Cantatas, choral music, Christmas plays and candlelight services are among the special things planned for the Christmas season by Cameron churches.

The cantata, "Night of Miracles," will be presented by the choir of the First United Methodist Church on Sunday, December 14 at 7:30 p.m. The evening will end with a candlelight service with members and visitors leaving the church with lighted candles.

On December 21 Methodists will have a family Christmas party for all members at 5 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Santa will visit the children and refreshments will be served. Rev. Stanley Vodicka said Christmas offerings for the Methodist Home at Waco will also be taken during December.

Rev. Darryl Proffit, pastor of First Assembly of God, said his church will offer a play on December 21 at 6 p.m. Cast will include both children and adults and will include music. It is directed by Mrs. Karen Murray. Christmas treats will be distributed to Sunday School members on the 21st.

The Cameron Gospel Tabernacle will also have a Christmas play to be on at 7 p.m. Sunday, December 14. Children and adults will be featured in the play and there will be special gifts of candy and fruit for members and visitors, according to Rev. H. M. Bowley.

The Battetown Baptist Church, Rev. Henry M. Weston, pastor, will observe the Lord's Supper on Christmas Eve at a candlelight service. A party for church members and visitors will be held on Wednesday, December 17. Also planned for the holiday season is a slide show and choral music.

Four choirs will offer a Christmas program at the First Baptist Church at 6 p.m. on Sunday, December 21. The choirs will include children's choir, carol choir, youth and adult choirs. The church will also have its "White Christmas," when gifts of canned food and fruit will be brought to be included in baskets for the needy.

First Baptist Sunday School classes and other organizations have been having Christmas parties this month and Rev. Vernon Dietrich said the Temple Junior College choir presented a musical program Wednesday.

Baskets for the needy will also be prepared by First Presbyterian Church as members bring offerings. The regular Christmas service will be held on Sunday, December 21 and on Thursday, December 18 members will have a covered dish dinner and program at 6:30 p.m., Rev. Ernest Helsley said.

St. Monica Catholic Church will have high mass at midnight Christmas Eve and one or two masses on Christmas morning, Fr. John Geiser said.

Abiding Savior Lutheran Church will again display the nativity scene on the lawn, a group from the church will go caroling on the 19th and the Sunday School will have a program at 6 p.m. on the 21st. Rev. John Homerstad said Christmas Day worship will start at 9 a.m.

Rev. James Mitchell will hold a worship service at All Saints Episcopal Church at 9 p.m. Christmas Eve.

Luecke To Co-Chair NNA's FOI Panel

Frank M. Luecke, editor-publisher of The Cameron Herald, has been named co-chairman of National Newspaper Association's Freedom of Information Sub-Committee, according to William G. Mullen, NNA general counsel.

Luecke is Texas chairman for NNA and former chairman of NNA's Public Notice Committee. He is also a director of Texas Press Association.

Other co-chairman is Paul League, publisher of The Lancaster, S. C., News.

NNA serves 6,500 newspapers in 50 states.

School Trustees Hear Report On Renovation

Cameron school board members took care of a short agenda in about an hour Monday night at a regular meeting. They heard reports, hired personnel, approved salary increases and added to the school policy.

Supt. Buddy Dulin reported that about two weeks, barring unexpected delays, are needed for completion of work on the downstairs area of the gym now undergoing renovation.

Dulin also reported on repairs needed to the Smith home which was deeded to the school and into which the superintendent will be moving. Dulin said leaks inside the home were from an upstairs shower and could be repaired.

The school has some $7,000 in a fund which can be used for repairs, carpeting, and remodeling of the kitchen plus some painting.

Board hired Joretta Howard as a kindergarten teacher and approved wage increases for school employees and bus drivers to conform with the minimum wage law.

The addition to the school policy concerns the education of children with limited English - speaking ability. If 20 or more children in any grade level possess limited English, a bilingual program will be implemented the following school year.

Dulin said so far the school has had less than ten children at one time with English - speaking difficulty in the lower grades.

BREAKIN NETS $15,000 HAUL AT LOCAL SHOP

City, county and state law enforcement officers are investigating a major breakin at Cameron's L&M Jewelry sometime Saturday night.

Police discovered the broken front glass door about 6 a.m. Sunday and called Reynolds Laywell, co-owner of the store. Laywell estimates that the thieves got away with at least $15,000 worth of merchandise and maybe more.

Trays of rings, thirty watches, five of them Accutrons, several diamond pendants and some costume jewelry were stolen, Laywell said.

A Department of Public Safety fingerprint expert was called to aid in the investigation but Laywell said the thieves wore gloves. One glove was found on the floor behind a counter.

Laywell says he figures the thieves were amateurs as they stole trays of rhinestone jewelry and Indian jewelry and left other valuable diamond jewelry behind.

Sheriff Carl Black is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrests of the thieves.

Burglars Hit Warehouse; Six Suspects Held

Six suspects have been fingerprinted and are being questioned in the Monday night robbery at Hogan's Texaco warehouse in Rockdale.

The burglars carried off a 700-pound safe containing an undisclosed amount of cash and some office machines, according to Sheriff Carl Black.

Black said a Department of Public Safety fingerprint expert was able to lift some prints from the scene and they are being checked against the suspects' prints. He said tracks of shoes at the scene matched some of the suspects' shoes. All suspects are from Rockdale.

Sheriff Black is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest of the burglars and Hogan is also offering a $100 reward.

Is Milam A Turkey For Heisters?

We hope County Commissioners, the Milam Sheriff's Dept. and the Milam Dist-Cty Attorney's office will more than acknowledge what Milam grand jurors are saying.

We hope these agencies act on the problem. And if they don't, the grand jury should reconvene and discuss ways to solve the problems and other places to find help.

Crime is on the upsurge everywhere. If there is not enough help, get more qualified investigators. If there is need for more income for county attorney or an assistant, get some.

If there is indifference in either the Milam Sheriff's Dept. or the County Attorney's office, get rid of it. Or get somebody else.

Milam County need not stand by and be a turkey for every heist artist from Houston to Dallas-Fort Worth.

Common Cultural Ground...

We congratulate the Cameron Library Board for voting to bring in more records and to add prints of great art for display there.

The library is one of the key culture centers of the community. The schools teach. The library exhibits and retains.

The move for more modern science literature is equally important to this library. It should be as vital a part of any library as the history section.

Cameron's fixation on a proud past has entered a new era at every level. The continuity we see is the best way. Evolution is superior to revolution.

These developments at Cameron Library show the good sense of past, present, and future findings common cultural ground.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

There's no use trying any longer, nobody can understand international diplomacy.

For example, take President Ford's trip to China. The highlight of it was a big banquet, the menu for which I'll get into in a minute, but first the toasts. They work this way: the Chinese send a copy of their toast to the President ahead of time, so he can check it over. Then he prepares his answer and has it typed out. When they sit down to eat, a Chinese leader lifts his glass and reads what the President has already thoroughly read, and the President responds by reading what he has written down for him.

Then they settled down to the meal, which consisted of--and I got this right out of an AP news report--"shark's fin in casserole, fried chicken, cabbage with chestnuts, and steamed wuchang fish complete with head and tail."

Now I was just thinking, that's a long way for a man to go to get served a fish head.

If everybody on both sides knows ahead of time what's going to be said at the big diplomatic banquet, why couldn't the Chinese just mail a copy of their toast along with a copy of the menu to the White House, the President could mail them his reply and then, if diplomatic niceties demanded it, sit down to the stipulated meal in the White House dining room and, when nobody was looking, throw the fish head to his cat? Why spend all that time and money flying to China to eat when there's bound to be a catfish place somewhere around the corner from the White House?

It may be that I am out of order and that international diplomacy is just too mysterious for us to understand. It may be like trying to understand the benefits from all that money we spent sending men to the moon. Some people say it will never pay off, but I'd like to remind you that at least two of the astronauts have gotten good jobs doing TV commercials.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Utility Commission Issues Stern Warning

Utility companies got a stern warning from the new Public Utility Commission they are not to pass along to consumers without approval a state assessment on their gross revenues.

The one-sixth of one per cent assessment was ordered by the 1975 Legislature to finance the Commission's regulatory activities. Revenue is estimated at $12 million to $15 million a year.

PUC members said they received a consumer complaint against Southwestern Public Service Co. of Amarillo and voluntary disclosure from Houston Lighting and Power on plans for a pass-through on electric bills.

"This is an assessment and not a tax; therefore, any utility is violating its rate schedule unless it has prior approval from the appropriate regulatory authority for an increase in rates before passing it on," said Commission Chairman W. Garret Morris.

Acknowledging that the Commission yet lacks jurisdiction to act in the matter, Morris said he feels the increase would be "an improper pass-through." He said he thinks individual consumers would be entitled to enjoin a utility from passing along the assessment in the form of a rate hike.

Rates Raised

A 7.1 per cent increase in workmen's compensation coverage rates received approval of the State Board of Insurance effective March 1.

The increase will add about $43 million to the $611.6 million annual cost of workmen's compensation premiums paid by Texas business and industries.

Another hearing will be required on the coverage if the average weekly manufacturing wage goes up as much as $10. State law provides for an automatic $7-a-week hike in maximum payments to those injured on the job if there is a $10 wage jump.

Tax Bond Cut

Better collection methods have made possible a reduction in the sales tax bonding requirement, according to Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Businesses have had to put up three times the amount they expected to pay in taxes each quarter. The new requirement will be twice the average monthly liability for monthly sales tax filers and one and a half times the quarterly liability for those who file quarterly.

Bullock said the new policy will allow smaller businesses to use letters of credit or cash bonds and get away from bonding firms.

Courts Speak

A 3-2 decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a five-year sentence for burglary in a Dallas case. A dissenting judge accused the majority of going to minute and "embarrassing" lengths to affirm convictions.

The State Supreme Court affirmed a $2.5 million judgment for a cement firm in a condemnation case brought by Coastal Industrial Water Authority on land along San Jacinto River.

The High Court will review a San Antonio case to determine whether an unprovoked homicide is an accidental death covered by a group accidental death insurance policy.

The Supreme Court refused to stop the State Judicial Qualifications Commission from hearing removal charges against 229th District Judge O. P. Carrillo.

Wichita Falls annexation of a strip of land southeast of the city will be reviewed by the Supreme Court.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held a bus company which stopped service to an area temporarily is in no position to object when another company applies to serve the same area.

AG Opinions

College deans' recommendations of merit pay raises for professors is not subject to forced disclosure under the Open Records Act, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded the Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Memorial Commission is eligible to receive federal funds and use them to purchase or condemn land and other property. Commission power to finance recreational facilities is a fact question.

Race Expands

State Rep. Lane Denton of Waco became the fourth candidate to announce he will run for Texas Railroad Commission next year.

Denton, 34, classed himself as "pro-consumer"

Sen. H. Tati Santiesteban of El Paso will be governor-for-a-day December 13—with ceremonies here and in his home city.

Billy G. Thompson will be the Texas Railroad Commission's new information officer. He has been an oil writer and industrial editor.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Let's say that after the long trip to Houston the Stadium was impressive. The nice green astroturf in the middle of winter. The long steep isles up to the concession stands and rest rooms. Good exercise for our heart patient fans.

Much better than the supposed new facility we traveled to in Llano where your knees served as back rest for the person in front of you. And that's one of my points I'm trying to make.

In both places the Cameron fans earned the percentage our school got out of the take at the ticket window, when our stands were almost full and the "home" teams half empty.

I don't think we should let this happen again, if we ever have a chance to go past district again. Let them meet us half way, at an appropriate type of field and if they can't let them forfeit the game.

Let the boys play on a 2AA class field instead of a pro-type field. Tell me how many 3A or 4A schools have astro turf.

In choosing a half way school I'm sure we would have been hosted much better than an Tully Stadiym.

We arrived at 5:30 and with many more were told the west gate would be for Cameron so the cars parked and lined up and we waited and waited and waited.

Seeing fans pouring into the seats from the other side.

Finally everyone made a mad dash for new parking spaces on the other side and it was much later that the west gate opened.

Houston thought so much of the game they didn't even mention it in the Sunday paper.

Pray tell us just by what rules are the sites chosen.

And just why is it that by the flip of a coin can a team become the underdog and cater to the whims of another's wishes?

To demoralize a team one week before the game is played is out right foolish.

They are under enough pressue without having to worry about the grass they slip and slide on.

Unless you can take our team to work out on astro-turf all year round and take our quarter back and receivers and kickers to practice each weekend as other schools can, don't put them out of the ball park to play the game.

One thing we can be thankful for is that God sent the cold wave all the way to Houston. Can you imagine how many more men we would have layed out if they had had to play in their usual humidity?

I still think our Yoemen are the #1 team in the state and along with our Band are the true sportsmen as they have shown them all.

Followed em' all the way

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

HEW THREATENS PRIVATE SCHOOLS

Senator James L. Buckley (N. Y.) ". . .When distinguished educators refuse to comply with orders from the Federal Government, their conscientious objection must demand the attention of every Member of the Congress.

"I am referring to recent public declarations by the board of trustees of Hillsdale College in Michigan, and by President Dallin Oakes of Brigham Young Univèrsity, explaining the policies which will be allowed by the institution which he heads as well as by the Hawaii Campus of Brigham Young, the Latter Day Saints Business College, and Ricks College in Idaho.

"The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has claimed that, if so much as a single student at a particular school is the recipient of veteran's benefits, a Federal student loan, or other Federal assistance, then all programs of that institution are to be considered federally funded and hence, subject to the regulatory jurisdiction of the Department.

CRUMP'S GRASS :ROOTS COMMENT

It's easy to understand why the ordinary citizen feels powerless when confronted with a mass of Federal regulations. But it gets a little scarey when a Senator will admit that he and his staff are also overwhelmed by the same mass of Federal regulations. Legislation to curb Federal agency regulations is long overdue.

Araucana Eggs Tested For Cholesterol Claims

COLLEGE STATION

Eggs are loved as food by most people. If proof were needed, some heart patients in Texas have been paying from $5 to $7 per dozen for eggs represented to have no cholesterol or to be significantly lower in cholesterol.

There's widespread concern by the public over cholestrol in the diet and cholesterol-containing foods. An increased interest in the yolk cholestrol content of eggs of numerous birds is shown by inquires being received by county agents and poultry specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"In view of these claims and confusion of facts by many interested persons, it was felt that a documented survey was needed of yolk cholesterol values in various bird species," says Dr. Roy Fanguy, poultry scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Some magazine articles have claimed that eggs from the Araucana (A South American breed of chicken) are void of cholesterol and higher in protein than regular chicken eggs," Fanguy says.

"One such article checked out by Dr. W. O. Cawley, Extension poultry specialist, cited a Canadian laboratory and scientists in Germany. A correspondence check with the Ministry of Agriculture and Food in Ontario, Canada, shows no record of this laboratory or the chief chemist.

"The address given in the article for the International Araucana Society was found to be a family residence with the occupants having no knowledge of the society. It was not possible to validate the German report since it was not documented.

"In view of this and requests for more information by county agents and other individuals, we began a series of laboratory checks on cholesterol content of eggs.

"White Leghorn, Ringneck pheasant and Conturnix quail eggs for this study were obtained from Experiment Station stocks. Araucana eggs were provided by breeders and county agents in Texas.

"All egg yolks were tested in duplicate, and where duplicate samples differed more than 3 percent, a third egg yolk sample was prepared and analyzed," points out Fanguy.

"Quail showed the greatest variability of cholesterol values, with examples of both the lowes cholesterol and the highest. Ringneck pheasant, on the other hand, averaged the highest.

"The White Leghorns, compared to the Araucana, actually had a lower minimum cholesterol value as well as a lower maximum value. But the variation was not enough to be statistically significant.

"However, the tests do refute the claims made for no cholesterol or a significantly lower cholesterol level for the Araucana breed," emphasized the scientist.

"Our analysis shows these eggs to have cholesterol at levels at least equal to White Leghorns (the breed used almost exclusively for egg production in this country.)

"As to the claims for higher protein conent of Araucana eggs, tests made by Andrew Clifford and Daniel Peterson at the University of California at Davis show that this is not so," Fanguy concluded.

Pesticide Rules Approved; EPA to Regulate Applicators

AUSTIN–At a hearing held in Austin November 20, representatives of farmers and ranchers, chemical companies and commercial pesticide applicators approved the proposed regulations of the Texas Pesticide Control Act.

Meanwhile, Texas is still waiting for word from Washington, D.C. to learn what pesticides will be covered by recent Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations on pesticide applicators, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

The State Legislature passed the Texas Pesticide Control Act which will bring the state into conformity with Federal regulations as they are stated now. But the EPA has not approved the state plan, according to Commissioner White.

The state law requires all commercial applicators to be certified, but exempts farmers. The Federal law, however, requires all persons supervising applications of certain "restricted use" pesticides to be certified.

White stressed that according to Federal regulations, only one certified applicator per farm will be required, that is, the person who will directly supervise applications.

Alcoa Changes

Hal Franklin, electrode superintendent at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works, will retire February 1 to end more than 38 years service with the company. He will be succeeded as head of the plant's carbon manufacturing facility by James H. Greene, currently potroom superintendent at Rockdale.

Franklin, a native Tennesseean, has spent more than 25 years in Texas -- 22 at Rockdale Works. He joined Alcoa at Tennessee Operations as a University of Tennessee co-op student. He received his chemical engineering degree at the Knoxville school in 1939.

The U. S. Navy and World War II veteran transferred to Alcoa's Mead, Wash., Works as assistant carbon plant superintendent in 1942.

After a three-year stint in the service, Franklin returned to Alcoa and Tennessee Operations in 1946. Three years later, he transferred to the Point Comfort (Texas) Operations as paste plant superintendent.

He began his Rockdale Works' career in 1953, a tour which saw him serve as carbon plant superintendent, aluminum plant superintendent, anode department superintendent and electrode superintendent.

Franklin, a registered professional engineer, is a past member of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

He and his wife, Billie, are members of the First Presbyterian Church in Rockdale, where he has served as elder and clerk of the session.

The Franklins, who reside at 60 Post Oak Place in Rockdale, have one son, John, who lives in Houston.

Greene, a native of Baldwyn, Miss., and a chemical engineering graduate of Mississippi State, is also a long-time Alcoan with more than 25 years service in Texas.

He joined Alcoa in 1942 at Tennessee Operations and, except for two years with the U. S. Navy during World War II, he remained there until 1949 when he transferred to Point Comfort Operations as a staff engineer.

Greene became potrooms general foreman in 1952 and was named chief industrial engineer in 1953.

He moved to Rockdale in 1962 to become potroom superintendent. He was also metal production superintendent before being named potroom superintendent again in 1972.

Greene and his wife, Loretta, are members of Rockdale's First United Methodist Church, where he is chairman of the official board. The Greenes, who reside at 1907 Mistletoe, Rockdale, are the parents of a son, Stephen, 18 and a daughter, Kathy, 16.

Good Quality Pastures

By Bill McCutchen

Winter pastures are expensive to produce and require good management practices in order to maintain high yields of good quality forage. Winter grazing is one of the pluses for wheat and wheat might not be economically feasable on some acreage without this plus.

In using these winter pastures, it is a must to withhold grazing until plants are completely established and well rooted. Fall growth should be stockpiled for the hard times or December, January, and February. After February 15, a graze out situation, good pastures will carry 2 to 2.5 animals per acre.

Other guidelines producers should follow to help maintain good winter pastures are:

1. Remove livestock during periods of wet weather.

2. Keep a supply of dry roughage and minerals available.

3. Don't overgraze during dry or cold periods as stem terminals may be destroyed decreasing later forage and grain production.

4. Remove cattle by February 15 if grain is going to be harvested. Grazing after plants begin to joint can cause drastic yield reduction.

Since small grains are expensive and high in quality, they should be grazed with animals of high market value such as stocker or dairy animals. Cow-calf herds can also use these pastures profitably but limited grazing will be necessary. This can be done by letting animals graze 2 or 3 hours each day, or graze one day out of 4 or 5. This limit-grazing system will allow grazing of large numbers on few acres.

Demand Up As Supply Is Down

RALEIGH

Demand up, supply down.

That's the cotton picture economists at the Cotton Incorporated research center here continue to draw in the just released November issue of their monthly "Cotton Summary."

The first major cut in foreign production since World War II, a strong recovery in U. S. mill use of cotton, and a world reviving from the "great recession" are the major elements in the composition.

The marketing analysts for American cotton growers still hold to last month's estimate of 8.7 million bales from the current U. S. cotton crop. But the figure might drop lower, they warn.

"Poor weather in coming weeks could easily cut production further," notes David Jordening, Cotton Incorporated manager of supply economics.

"Figures already in show that ginnings are far below normal mid-November levels in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia," Jordening points out. "And gin turnout in the High Plains of Texas has been disappointing."

As the outlook for cotton supplies continues low, the demand for cotton continues to grow.

U. S. mills now indicate they will use 7.2 million bales of cotton this year--25 per cent ahead of last year's pace. But consumer demand for cotton exceeds projected mill production, according to David Cox, Cotton Incoporated vice president for economic research and development.

"Consumer demand for 7.4 million bales of cotton goods exists today, and the demand is growing," Cox declares.

With consumer demand for cotton products running ahead of cotton production planned by U. S. mills, how will American consumers satisfy their wants?

"Unfortunately, perhaps from cotton textile imports," Cox answers.

"It is important to U. S. cotton growers that American consumers are insisting on cotton," Cox explains.

Cox acknowledges that it would be best all around for consumer demand to be satisfied with cotton spun and processed in this country.

"Cotton Incorporated, in behalf of the U. S. producer, must continue its agressive marketing program to persuade domestic mills to switch their fiber use back to cotton, now that the consumer is responding to the producer's promotion of this wonderful fiber," Cox says.

Other industry groups and governmental agencies are beginning to share Cotton Incorporated's view of the cutback in foreign cotton production, Cox observes.

Major cuts are reported now in Mexico, Brazil and the USSR. Reports also indicate cuts in Pakistan and other important producing nations.

Cotton Incorporated continues to hold to the 48 million bale - estimate for foreign production reported a month ago.

The U. S. export market this year is still clouded by the low level of sales in recent months. But Cox remains optimistic.

"The basic issue is a question of timing," he says. "Will world cotton demand increase soon enough to benefit U. S. exports this year? Or will recovery in exports fall into the next cotton year?"

Cox points out that world cotton demand will increase as business recovers in industrialized nations. Net importing countries will begin bidding for declining world cotton stocks at the same time that some producing regions cut production further.

Planter Praises Callie Grass

W. H. McCormick, of Rogers is showing the grass plot he got started from two potted Callie Bermuda plants secured from Dr. E. C. Hold of Texas A&M in May.

Repotted and fertilized, enough plants were secured to plant three rows 900 feet long, six feet apart in the rows and the rows 12 feet a part. A hundred and twenty days later, a 100 percent cover was obtained.

Enough planting material was obtained to plant five acres on November 20. The area was planted to winter wheat by over seeding.

A two row sprig planter was used, 24 bushels to the acre.

The plant was introduced to this country from northeast Africa and the Callie selection was made at Mississippi State in 1966. Callie Bermuda was tested at 19.62 percent at three weeks cutting.

Recommended planting is with a sprigging planter or by hand, disking in a well prepared seed bed about two inches deep. The joints of Callie grass will sprout in three to four days when potted or in wet soil.

County ICA To Elect Officers

Monday, December 15 at 7:30 p.m. the Milam County Independent Cattlemen's Association will meet at the Ponderosa Restaurant in Cameron to elect officers and directors for 1976.

Dr. C. E. Payne from Bryan, a director of the ICA of Texas, Inc., will be the featured speaker. Dr. Payne will be speaking on the accomplishments of the ICA during 1975 and will be on hand to answer any questions.

Weed Control Will Highlight Meeting

How can controlling weeds improve our environment? What does weed control mean in terms of increasing food production?

These are just two of the questions that will be dealt with when hundreds of industry, university, and government weed scientist gather at Dallas for the 29th annual meeting of the Southern Weed Science Society.

The meeting will deal mainly with the future of weed control and how it will affect our society, points out Dr. Dave Weaver.

6 ways your Crop Care dealer helps you make better crop profits:

To help you farm better, and make more money, your Crop Care dealer offers the following services:

1 Complete, accurate, soil testing service. Your Certified Crop Care dealer will take your soil samples and send them for you to a leading soil analysis laboratory. The laboratory soil analysis and computerized fertilizer recommendations will be delivered to you.

2 Plant Analysis. Your Crop Care dealer will help you take samples, and handle all details, up to and including delivering to you the printed analysis of the nutrient uptake of your plants. This service pinpoints deficiencies in uptake of nutrients, particularly minor elements, such as zinc, boron, etc.

3 One-source responsibility for your farm chemicals. Your Certified Crop Care dealer offers weed and pest control programs, as well as fertilization of your crop land. In some instances, your Crop Care dealer may render a complete range of services... from seed corn all the way through drying corn at harvest time.

4 Full measure. You will receive certification that guarantees your getting full weight or volume of fertilizer, or other farm chemicals, you order from your Crop Care dealer.

5 Professional counsel. Your Crop Care dealer is well informed on agronomy. He attends forums that keep him up-to-date on the latest crop care techniques. Your Crop Care dealer is a central source of information about successful farming ideas used in your area. And he can draw on the experiences and techniques of other Crop Care dealers in the network.

6 Skilled, professional application. As a part of his total Crop Care service, your dealer offers custom application of fertilizer and other farm chemicals. Application may be made by one of your Crop Care dealer crews; or he may arrange for application by an independent applicator.

The services your Crop Care dealer offers are designed to help you get maximum yield; and to free up your time to do what you do best: Manage. Nobody can manage your farming operation like you. Your Certified Crop Care dealer can provide professional advice and services to help you do it better.

Not So Expensive... Give A Practical Gift... Poultry Pointers.

It may not be quite as expensive to produce food and fiber in 1976, according to a number of agribusiness experts. Inputs such as fertilizer, farm machinery, and fuel may not cost quite as much as during the past few years.

This doesn't mean a return to the pre-1973 era when gasoline was about half in price what it is now or when fertilizer prices were way down. But apparently 1976 shouldn't see a lot of cost advances as witnessed by farmers in the past couple of years.

Prices the farmer will get for his food and fiber next year will depend to a large extent on the export situation.

A compilation of various summaries by both experts in private industry and government economists shows general agreement that for the most part fuel prices for the next several months should be stable. That doesn't mean a sudden decline, but neither are they expected to suddenly go out of sight again.

Farm machinery supplies should be adequate for most items during 1976.

Fertilizer supplies are also expected to be adequate, and it is generally predicted that prices should reflect that situation.

So if the weather cooperates and foreign markets hold up as expected, agriculture producers are hoping for a brake on costs of production during 1976.

All of these expectations are just that, and they are all based on the assumption that the general economy will continue to show recovery, both in this nation and abroad.

STUCK FOR A PRACTICAL CHRISTMAS GIFT? A lot of people solved that problem last year with a gift of food and a lot of people apparently are planning to do it this year as well.

You can select from a bountiful supply of foods produced in Texas by agriculture producers. You'll not only be giving a welcome gift but one which is practical, too.

PECANS AND COTTON are the major crops now getting most of the attention from Texas farmers.

With the cooler temperatures, pecan harvest activity has increased throughout the state. Quality of the crop, however, varies considerably as a result of unusually high scab damage. Most of the high-quality pecans are coming from orchards that followed a regular spray program.

Cotton harvest is now nearing the 50 per cent completion mark for the state. Both quality and yield potential have suffered on the High Plains due to weather extremes earlier in the year.

Wheat and oat seeding are complete. Harvest of soybeans, peanuts, and sorghum is finished.

POULTRY PRODUCTION FIGURES for the state, as reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, show both increases and decreases.

Broiler chick hatchings are up 18 per cent compared to a month ago; turkey poult hatch is down 18 per cent from a year ago.

Egg production is 14 per cent higher than a year ago and four per cent higher than a month ago. Layers on hand are up two per cent from a year ago.

LELY CAMERON EQUIP. COMPANY LELY

LELY-ROTERRA DEMONSTRATION

"My name is Tommy Corley and I'm president of Cameron Equipment Company. I'm hosting a LELY-ROTERRA demonstration on Tuesday, December 16*, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. The show will be at my dealership located on Highway 36, west of the Cameron city limits.

"The demonstration marks the opening of my exclusive dealership for the complete LELY line of modern farm machinery. I carry LELY-CLARK spraying equipment, and LELY NH3 toolbars, fingerwheel hayrakes, broadcasters, and "W" chisel plows. I have a complete line of LELY equipment and parts in stock.

"Come to the December 16 show and see the unmatched one-trip-tillage performance and versatility of the LELY-ROTERRA. If you haven't seen the LELY-ROTERRA work in the field, don't miss the chance now. I guarantee that it will make you reconsider your present tillage methods.

"If you can't make the show, stop by anytime and I'll talk to you about one-trip-tillage or arrange a demonstration on your farm."

3-Million-Year-Old Jaws Discovered In Africa

Remains of early man reliably dated to between 3,350-000 to 3,750,000 years old have been discovered in Tanzania, East Africa.

Dr. Mary Leakey reported that fossil jaws and teeth from at least 11 individuals were found at Laetolil, some 25 miles south of Olduvai Gorge, site of many famous discoveries of early man.

The finds were announced at the headquarters of the National Geographic Society, which for many years has supported the work at Olduvai Gorge of Dr. Leakey and her late husband, Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey.

Fossils Need Study

Although the fossils have not yet been studied in detail, Dr. Leakey said they appear to represent the genus Homo, or true man, rather than the robust Australopithecus, an apelike creature related to man.

"The teeth resemble some from the earlier levels in the East Rudolf, Kenya, deposits which are associated with a large-brained skull of the type (designated 1470) found by Richard Leakey in 1972," Mrs. Leakey said.

"They also resemble teeth found by Donald C. Johansen in the Afar region of Ethiopia last year. This new evidence lends support to the view that Australopithecus is not in the direct line of human evolution and that the lineage of Homo extends much farther back than believed a few years ago."

Dr. Leakey's new discoveries dovetail with her son's unearthing of the 2,800,000-year-old Skull 1470 at East Rudolf, 525 miles north of Laetolil. Richard Leakey believes the skull belongs to the genus Homo and that it coexisted in the same environment with the smaller brained Australopithecus.

Richard Leakey and other scientists speculate that Australopithecus was a relative rather than forebear of mankind, and that it reached an evolutionary dead end.

Beds Are Older

The deposits of Laetolil have been known since 1935 when Louis and Mary Leakey collected specimens there. But the deposits had not been radiometrically dated until this year when Dr. Garniss H. Curtis of the University of California at Berkeley carried out a series of potassium-argon dating tests. These proved the beds to be considerably older than had been estimated on the basis of fossil animal remains.

Potassium-argon dating determines the age of a rock sample by measuring the gradual conversion of an unstable element, potassium 40, into argon 40. The rate of change is enormously slow, but it is constant. By measuring the amount of change, a scientists can tell how long the process has been going on.

In July and August this year, the excavating staff at Olduvai Gorge moved camp to the Laetolil area, where systematic collecting of fossils was undertaken and a geological study was carried out by Dr. Richard L. Hay, also of Berkeley.

The manlike remains include a well-preserved adult jaw and the jaw of a child about five years old in which the milk teeth were in the process of being replaced by permanent dentition.

"Messiah" Presented By TJC Dec. 14

The Messiah, by G. F. Handel, will be presented on Sunday, Dec. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building Auditorium at Temple Junior College.

The concert is being sponsored jointly by the TJC Department of Music, TJC continuing education division and the Central Texas Orchestral Society.

Admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for students. CTOS members will be admitted free with their season membership cards.

The performance will be conducted by Larry Guess, chairman of the Music Department at TJC, and the chorus will be comprised of college students and adults from the Central Texas area. The chorus will be accompanied by an orchestra composed of players from Baylor University and from Temple High School's orchestra.

Mrs. Jane Granah, Temple, will play the harpsichord. The performance will also feature an outstanding group of soloists from Temple, Austin, and Waco.

Testing Dates For Spring Vocational Nursing Program Set

TEMPLE

Testing dates for the Vocational Nursing Department of Temple Junior College for the spring class beginning in February are Dec. 16 and Jan. 13, 1976 at 9 a.m. at the Veterans Administration Center, Building 21.

The program consists of 52 weeks of clinical and classroom studies leading to a certificate of completion from TJC and preparing the student to write the state examination administered by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners of Texas.

The aim is to provide an educational background to prepare the vocational nurse to function within a health team and to gain skill and judgment based on the knowledge of scientific principles. When the course is completed, the vocational nurse will be qualified to give quality nursing care to recipients of all ages.

Other Entrance requirements the student must pass are:

1. Age 17 to 54 years, applicants over 54 years are considered on an individual basis.
2. All applicants must be high school graduates or establish an equivalency by taking the General Educational Development Test. (GED)
3. A personal interview is required. The Director of the program will conduct the interview. An application will be completed at the time of the personal interview. Applications should be submitted 30 days prior to enrollment.
4. An appointment for pre-entrance testing must be made at the time of the interview.
5. Good mental and moral character.
6. A pre-entrance physical exmination by a physician is required, including current immunizations as requested and chest x-ray.
7. Furnish an official copy of your high school transcript.
8. Submit a recent 2" x 3" photograph.
9. An applicant must be a citizen of the United States or have declared intention to becoming a citizen.
10. All student applicants must be approved by the admission committee.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rider wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Thelma, to Mike Spillers.

The couple was married Saturday, Dec. 6. The newly weds will reside in Killeen.

Dr. John T. Richards will speak Thursday evening December 11, 1975 at the Rockdale State Bank Meeting Room on Chronic Diseases and Special Diets.

Chronic and degenerative illness create a major health problem for all ages.

It effects the quality and length of life. Many chronic and degenerative illnesses can be controlled or eliminated through preventive techniques. Controlling these diseases depends upon the individuals knowledge and response to early symptoms.

The leading cause of death in both the United States and Texas today is diseases of the heart and blood vessels. For each person who dies, 11 others are chronically ill, and many are afflicted in their most productive years.

Some defects of the heart and blood vessels may be present at birth, or scarring and narrowing of valves may be acquired as a result of rheumatic fever but 90 per cent of all heart diseases in the United States is due to Arteriosclerosis and hypertension or high blood pressure.

Some risk factors include -- heredity, high blood pressure, high cholesterol in blood, overweight, excessive eating, too little exercise, diebetes, cigarette smoking and tension.

Your heart is one of your most vital organs, learn how to treat it with good care by hearing Dr. Richards speak.

Calvert Hosts Mini Tour; Decorated Homes Shown

There will be a Christmas Mini-Tour of Homes in Calvert this weekend, Dec. 13 & 14 sponsored by the Robertson County Historical Survey Commission.

The tour will be through five of the grand Victorian homes decorated in their Yule-tide best. They will be the Douglas McCrary, Jasper A. Newman, Jack Hart, Allen Wiese and Wesley Anderson homes.

A Christmas bazaar will be held on the porch of "The Blue House" at 409 Gregg, where the tour will begin. Proceeds from the bazaar will go to the Calvert Women's Club.

A special Mexican dinner will be served at Rosales Cafe on Main Street for only $1.90.

Tickets, in the form of a brochure, can be bought at 409 Gregg or at any of the antique stores on Main Street. The tours will be from 12-6 p.m. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

CLUBS

Porcelain Art Guild

The Cameron Porcelain Arts Guild held its annual Christmas party Thursday night in the Business and Professional Women's Club House.

A Christmas dinner with all the trimmings was served to club members and seven guests. Mrs. Francis Hudson and Miss Lois Randolph presented the program. Club members exchanged hand painted mugs.

Delta Kappa

Beta Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma will meet at Stage Coach Inn in Salado Saturday, Dec. 13 at 11 a.m. for the annual Christmas party which will conclude with a noon luncheon.

Rogers Service

The Rogers Community Club will have a Christmas party at the Civic Center Saturday, Dec. 13, at 7p.m., according to Clayton Clowers, president.

A turkey and dressing meal will be catered and gifts will be exchanged. A Christmas carol sing-song will be lead by Coleman Young. Members expect a large crowd for the occasion.

YHT

The Buckholts Young Homemakers of Texas will have a bake sale Saturday, Dec. 13, beginning at 8 a.m. and lasting until everything is sold on Main Street in Buckholts in front of the post office.

The club is also helping in the Santa Pal Project, toys for needy children. Anyone who wishes to donate some old toys can bring them to the homemaking room at the Buckholts School.

More than one-fourth of your electricity is produced by generating plants which use lignite coal as fuel.

For many years, readily available and inexpensive natural gas was the only fuel used by Texas Power & Light Company at its generating plants. Recently, oil has been used during periods when supplies of natural gas were curtailed.

Several years ago, TP&L and two other North Texas electric companies began a massive program to reduce their dependency on gas and oil by constructing plants which use lignite coal. The first lignite-fueled plant began producing electricity in 1971, another was placed in operation in 1974 and six more lignite units are scheduled for completion by 1980.

Lignite-fueled plants cost much more to build than gas-fueled plants. However, because lignite itself is more economical, it's helping and will help in the future to keep the price of electricity lower than it would be if we depended solely on gas and oil as generating plant fuels.

At Texas Power & Light, we will continue doing what must be done to assure you a dependable supply of electricity in the years ahead.

"It will take time"

Yoe Girls Begin New Era

Beginning a girls athletic program isn't the easiest task in the world. Just ask Linda Puckett, girls athletic coach at Yoe High, how many lessons a coach can learn when facing a building program larger than the remodeling of downtown Cameron.

"The girls have played volleyball before, but they haven't ever been exposed to basketball," she said. "They lack the skills that are usually learned in the lower grades."

"In the first games this season the girls have fallen to defeat -- not from the lack of enthusiam, but from not having an opportunity to play," Puckett said. In games played last week the Yoe girls junior varisty lost to Rogers 62-8 and then lost to Rockdale 49-8.

In the varsity game against Rogers the final score saw the Yoe girls falling behind 74-17. Then on Thursday night against Rockdale the girl s were defeated 56-21.

"Their enthusiasm and spirit helps a whole lot, even when they lack the skills, I always know that they are trying," she continued. "This group is always trying their hardest!"

In starting a complete girls athletic program the greatest thing a coach can possess is patience. "What I am teaching is the basic fundamentals such as dribbling, passing, rebounding, and shooting techniques. The girls must realize what we are learning are the things that most teams learned in the 7th grade."

Game Experience

Experience and game situations take time and develop a team that can successfully carry on a winning tradition. To Linda Puckett, game experience is the key. "We have the talent but are handicapped from the lack of experience. The more games we see and, of course, the more we can play, will be our biggest benefit."

"It's more aggressive than it looks. And at first our girls didn't realize just how much contact there is and it made us back off at first," Puckett lamented, "and I can tell the difference of how we approach the game and we have only played three games."

Facilities

With the remodeling of the facilities Pucket said, "It has solved a lot of problems that at first I was concerned about. It's set up that we start practicing at 8 a.m., which is 30 minutes prior to the regular school bell. Coming in early gives us just a little extra time to work on our fundamentals."

In closing Puckett said "It will take time. Working together and being enthusiastic is extremely important when building a program and our girls have the spirit to build a winning program."

Yoe Cagers Enter Snook Tournament

The Yoe High cagers will open their season Thursday when they will be competing in the Snook Tournament. Tip-off time for the game is 12 noon with the Yoemen facing Hempstead. There is little time for the transition from the grid to the basketball court. The Yoemen will enter district competition Tuesday, Dec. 16 against Caldwell.

Coach Ken Poole said, "Our first workout Monday went real well and we looked pretty sharp for the first day."

Other teams entered in the 10 team tournament include; Snook, Giddings, Hearne, Somerville, and Richards. Navasota, Madisonville, and Caldwell are also entered.

The freshmen will also be competing in a tournament at Belton this Friday and Saturday. The freshmen will play Holland in their first game with game time set for 1 p.m. The championship game is set for Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

Other teams that will be participating are Georgetown, Rogers, San Saba, Lampasas, Belton, and Burnet.

The Yoe High JV will be playing the Belton JV Thursday at 5:30 p.m. at Yoe High gym.

Yoemen Pack 23-AA All-District Ranks

The All-District football team for District 23AA was officially announced Tuesday and there was little surprise when the Cameron Yoemen filled 7 offensive and 7 defensive positions on the first team.

For the first time there was a first and second team on both defense and offense. Along with offensive and defensive, Honorable Mention selections were made.

In all catagories the Yoemen placed 11 offensive and 12 defensive picks. There were 5 unanimous selections, and Cameron filled all five. On offense Donald Hanel and Ronnie Bennett were selected, and on defense Joe Smitherman, Ronnie Bennett, and Joey Mondrik were named.

SPORT SPOTLIGHT

By FORREST GUESS

SHOCK. . .

What can you say after Saturday night? First of all, I suppose I can say that it really was a great season that ended a little quick.

No one hates it any worse than the team. To see the aftermath in the field house at Tully field expressed that point rather well.

It's time to quit saying 'what if' or 'I think' and start saying "Thanks Yoemen for a GREAT season."

COOPERATION. . .

A sports page is dead without the cooperation of the athletic director. Ed Cauley has given me the cooperaton to give better coverage on an upcoming game.

Every Tuesday Coach Cauley would give me a scouting report and a run down on what the teams had done in the past.

I appreciate the time and "I the effort that the coaching staff and Coach Cauley has given the Herald in order to give better coverage of Yoe High sports.

Well, I can't wait unti next Tuesday rolls around and I receive another scouting report. . .

CAULEY SAID. . .

"I just wish I could give you a scouting report. There was no excuse for Saturday night.

"We got whipped on the offensive line and overall we just didn't execute and they did. We knew where they were going to attack us but we couldn't get there to stop them.

"I have been asked if playing on the turf made any difference. The astroturf didn't hurt nor help us. It did help them. There is one thing for sure, I don't ever want to play on it again.

"We can rationalize, but the fact is they executed their assignments and we didn't.

"The best team won Saturday night. Now if we played again, I don't think it would happen that way again.

"You can wish it away, but it's still there. I love them and it's hard to take. We had the desire. But the desire and the deserve are two different things."

BASKETBALL. . .

Fro m the grid to the hardwoods overnight. It won't be the easiest task, changing from hard hitting to a soft touch.

Coach Ken Poole's Yoemen are picked, as I understand, number 4 in the state according to a coaches poll. It gives the Yoemen something to shoot for, instead of being shot at.

A number one ranking is nice, but as experience shows, everyone is 'extra' ready to beat you.

It could easily be a back-to-back district championship in basketball, too.

O J Thomas Cagers In Action

All four O. J. Thomas basketball teams were in action Thursday night with the girls playing Rogers and the boys hosting Marlin at OJT gym.

In girls action the 7th grade lost a thriller, 43-35. The 8th graders, losing 81-27, found Rogers to be like a pro team.

In the boy's game, OJT split wins with the 8th grade winning over Marlin 44-26. The 7th grade Yoe Yoes lost 23-11.

Denise Kelley led the scoring for the 7th graders with 16 points followed by Betty Sue Chubb with 8. It was a breath-taker when the Yoettes closed in on the Eaglettes after being down 27-8 at half time.

The Yoettes came back after the half and took a momentary lead but by the end of the third quarter Rogers had regained and maintained the lead for the 8 point advantage.

Vicki Brashear led the scoring in the 8th grade game with 10, but it wasn't enough to hold off the scoring of the Eaglettes who scored from every angle of the court.

Behind the hot shooting of Terry Lowe the 8th grade styled on top after the first quarter and the Yoe Yoes led after the second quarter tip-off. Lowe scored 24, followed by Dow Dodd with 11.

The 7th grade was able to hold off the Bullpups shooting the firs t half with the scoreboard beaming 10-6 in favor of the Pups. Jasper Harden sank 4 poins followed by Alan Sapp with 3.

In the second half, Marlin displayed their ball handling skills and out-shot the Yoe Yoes, ending up with a 23-11 pre-season win.

TJC Offers Credit By Examination

TEMPLE

Registration opens Dec. 8 for credit by examination tests at Temple Junior College, according to Anice Naler, director of counseling and testing.

TJC offers examinations for college credit in more than 50 courses. The next examination date is Jan. 17 and students must register by Dec. 18, Ms. Naler said.

Students may earn a maximum of 24 semester hours through the credit by examination process. Students who are qualified by experience or previous training may take the special examination, which, depending on the course, may be subject area examinations of the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) or TJC's institutional examination.

Students may not attempt credit by examination for any course in which they have been enrolled previously, she said. The tests in any subject area may be taken once and the student must score a grade of "A" or "B" on the tests to receive credit.

Requests for examinations are made through the Office of Counseling and Testing at TJC. Students making application must pay a non-refundable fee of $20 per single subject matter for CLEP examinations, and $40 for three to five CLEP examinations. The TJC institutional exams cost $15 per exam.

When someone says, "It's for you," our minds begin to buzz with questions. Who is it? What do they want? Good News? Bad News? Work? Pleasure?

It's for you! Commanding words that summon our immediate attention. And those words apply as well to the Church as they do to a telephone call.

The Church is for you! Its services of worship, its program of religious education, its comforting ministration in time of spiritual crisis . . . all for you!

And the Church has a vital message — good news for a discouraged world. It has a glorious work before it — a happy fellowship for men, women and children of noble purpose.

The Church deserves your support. It's for you!

Changes Announced For 1975 Income Tax Returns

AUSTIN

For the first time, individuals will be able to get money through filing a federal income tax return, even though they paid no withholding, Robert M. McKeever, Internal Revenue Service district director for southern Texas. said today in discussing individual income tax forms for 1975.

The money will be paid as an earned income credit for workers earning up to $8,000 a year and maintaining a household with a dependent child. The credit is 10 percent of a worker's earnings -- up to a maximum of $400 -- and decreases as income rises above $4,000, he said.

In addition to the earned income credit, McKeever said that other new features of the tax forms for 1975 include the following.

-- A higher standard deduction of 16 percent, to a maximum of $2,600 for married persons filing jointly ($1,300 for married individuals filing separately), and $2,300 for single persons and heads of household.

-- A $30 credit for each person claimed as an exemption.

-- A five-percent credit, with a $2,000 ceiling, on the purchase of a new principal residence built or under construction before March 26, 1975, and acquired and occupied after March 12, 1975.

Another "first" is a line on Form 1040 for deducting contributions to individual retirement plans, generally available to individuals who do not participate in pension plans at work. Taxpayers who have an individual retirement account or annuity must attach Form 5329, Return for Individual Retirement Savings Arrangement, to their tax return, whether or not they contribute to their retirement plan during the year, McKeever said.

A change appearing in both Form 1040 and 1040A for 1975 is the increase in the tax tables to cover incomes up to $15,000. The tables make it unnecessary for taxpayers who do not itemize deductions -- and whose income is under $15,000 -- to figure their tax, he said.

Nevertheless, whether taxpayers receive a Form 1040A or Form 1040 tax package, they should try itemizing deductions, as well as claiming the standard deduction, to see which method results in a lower tax, he advised.

McKeever said that medical bills, charitable contributions, and other taxdeductible expenses sometimes can mount up, and enable taxpayers who itemize to cut their taxes significantly.

Although most taxpayers will receive their tax packages in the mail by early January 1976, now is a good time for southern Texas residents to gather records and other information needed to file their tax returns, he said.

McKeever added that Congress has been considering proposals to change several tax law provisions. If changes are made that affect 1975 income taxes, the IRS will provide the supplemental forms and information that taxpayers will need to meet any new requirements of the tax law.

Job Openings Listed By Civil Service

The Albuquerque Area Office, U. S. Civil Service Commission, announced that effective immediately, applications are being accepted for Correctional Officer positions with Federal institutions located in Texas and Oklahoma. Salarie s for these positions start at $9,946 a year.

Correctional Institutions are located in Texas at Anthony, Ft. Worth, Seagoville, and Texarkana, and in Oklahoma at El Reno.

Information about qualification requirements and application procedures may be obtained from the Federal Job Information Centers of the U. S. Applicants will receive consideration without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, political affiliation, or any other nonmerit factor.

Changes Announced For Food Stamps

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today adopted new regulations for determining food stamp allotments, and revised coupon allotments, purhcase requirements, and maximum income eligibility standards, effective Jan. 1.

On Jan. 1 the amount of coupons allotted for a 4-person household will be increased from $162 to $166 a month, with adjustments for other household sizes in line with revised economies of scale. Th maximum income eligibility level for a family of four will be correspondingl y increased from $540 to $553 per month.

GI Loan May Hinge On Income

Married veterans should include their spouses' income in considering whether they can take advantage of the GI loan, the Veterans Administration says. VA counts the wife's income in computing whether married veterans are qualified for GI loans, Jack Coker, director of the Veterans Administration regional office, confirmed today.

He said VA policy is to consider the full combined income of bot h the veteran and wife (or in the case of a woman veteran, the husband's income), when the income of the veteran alone is not sufficient to qualify him or her for the amount of the loan sought.

The same standards applied to the income of the veteran are applied to that of the spouse.

Delegates Attend Farm Bureau Convention

Milam County Farm Bureau was represented by six delegates to the 42nd annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Nov. 30-Dec. 3 at the Convention Center in San Antonio. Some 1,500 persons from all parts of Texas attended Policies to guide the state's largest farm organization next year were adopted by the more than 1,000 voting delegates representing the majority of the 210 organized county units. Also approved were recommendations on national issues. These will be forwarded to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting Jan. 4-8 in St. Louis.

Delegates registered Sunday, Nov. 30 before participating in the evening's activities which included a vesper service, discussion meet, and talent find.

The Monday morning agenda included addresses by TFB President Carrol Chaloupka and Governor Dolph Briscoe. TFB Secretary-Treasurer Reed Lang presented the financial report. Featured at a luncheon for the ladies was the First Lady of Texas, Mrs. Janey Briscoe.

Special conferences were held Monday afternoon on the following subjects: Livestock and Animal Health, Community Service, Cotton, Poultry, Wheat and Feed Grains, Rice, and Farm Bureau services. Also discussed were: Field Crops, Research and Education, Farm Labor, Young Farmers and Ranchers, Natural Resources, and Dairy. In the state finals of the TFB Queen Contest that evening, Miss Stephanie Myska of Richmond was chosen queen over 11 other candidates.

Tuesday's activities began with district caucuses and the administrative report by Executive Director Warren Newberry. County Farm Bureaus were recognized at a special awards and recognition program that evening.

The convention business session began Tuesday afternoon and continued through Wednesday. The last order of business was the election of directors and the president. The president for 1976 is Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart.

Tree Planters

One timber-based company, admittedly the nation's largest, plants more new trees every year than the U.S. Forest Service, which controls 18 times as much forest land.

Save Time and $$

Ideas To Aid Consumers

Here are some ideas that can save you time, money and worn nerves. (You may want to keep this column handy for future reference.)

Save on pork chops. Buy a pork roast and cut the chops yourself . . . Buy cheese in blocks and you do the grating or slicing . . . you'll find it's less expensive.

Be Your Own Tax Collector

Find it difficult to save money? Try this: every time you spend any money – no matter how small an amount – tax yourself 10% of the amount. For every dollar spent, save a dime. Put the money aside. You'll be amazed how fast your savings add up and how "painless" the system works.

If you dial a long distance call and get a "wrong number," don't redial the number immediately. Instead, dial the long distance operator and tell her about it. She'll give you credit for the call.

Cleaning and Fixing Ideas

When washing large items – sheets and tablecloths – try to balance the load with small items such as pillowcases and towels. Mixed loads make for better handling in both the washer and dryer.

For appearance and longer wear, clean rugs and carpets weekly before dirt has a chance to build-up. Wiping rugs with a damp mop also aids in the removal of surface dust . . . Coat the covers of cook books with clear shellac –spills will wash off easily.

When painting walls, always dust or clean the wall beforehand. This bit of extra work will result in longer paint wear.

At least one bathtub caulk does a lot more than caulk tubs. Researchers at Dow Corning have developed a silicone rubber bathtub caulk that's really a fix-it kit in a tube. It mends, seals, waterproofs and handles many bonding jobs around the house. In addition, handymen even use the caulk – which comes in six colors – for insulating home and auto electrical connections and for anchoring basement wall partitions to the concrete floor.

Shopping Don'ts and Dos

Avoid shopping when hungry, depressed, angry or tired. Emotion can effect your shopping judgment – especially on expensive and "impulse" items.

Men can usually save money when buying clothes shopping in the campus or university shop of large stores instead of the men's department.

"There's no place like NOME."
SECRETARY OF STATE Seward—1867.

Alaska BOUGHT from Russia for $7 MILLION.

A lot of people thought it was a mistake.

"Seward's folly," they called it.

Just a lot of ice and igloos.

But Alaska has yielded furs, fish, forest products and minerals worth many times the purchase price.

And that purchase was made possible when Americans bought up a government issue of six-percent five-twenty bonds in 1865.

Today, Americans still help their country grow by buying United States Savings Bonds at banks or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

Seward knew what he was doing then.

Be in the know, now. Buy United States Savings Bonds.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
